Family Support Services

Families need and deserve help

Rosecrance Family Support Services help members of the family learn about the disease of addiction in a comprehensive manner. Everyone has been affected and everyone can benefit by participating in the various services offered.

Our family programs are designed to answer your questions, help you cope with a loved one's substance abuse and enhance understanding of how the experience has affected you.

Family Support Groups

These on-going support groups help families understand they are not alone in their desire to recover from the disease of addiction. Families come together to learn from one another and gain insight from people who are going through similar experiences.

Individual Family Sessions

Family sessions are scheduled on an individual basis and generally involve the client, the addictions counselor and those individuals whom the patient chooses to include. The Family Program Coordinator also is available to conduct individual sessions with families.

Family Education Weekends

Weekend programs are designed to provide comprehensive education regarding the disease of addiction and the process of recovery for the entire family.

Frequently asked questions

Q: When is Family Education scheduled?

A: This is a multi-session program with different content each session. Sessions are scheduled from 9:00 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Q: Is participation in family support services mandatory?

A: Participation is strongly recommended. Studies have shown that the more the family is involved in the treatment process, the more positive the outcome for the client and family.

Q: Is there a fee for any family services?

A: No, there is no additional cost for any of the services. If you choose to have lunch with the client during family education, there is a $5 charge.

Q: Who should attend/participate in family services?

A: Family support services are recommended for all family members, significant others and loved ones.

Q: I currently do not have a loved one in treatment, but may I still attend?

A: Even if you do not currently have a loved one in treatment, you are welcome to attend the sessions. If your loved one has been discharged, you are welcome to continue attending.

Q: How do I prevent my loved one from relapsing?

A: Rosecrance will guide you through the process of understanding your role in supporting your loved one's recovery through the services we provide.

Statistics show that when the family is involved in the treatment process, the success rate for recovery is much higher.
